

ABSTRACT

The present invention relates to surgical fastener systems, and more particularly to surgical fasteners in the form of tacks, and to apparatus and methods for highly reliable
5 application of surgical fasteners for approximation and fixation of tissue and membranes in furtherance of surgical procedures (e.g., Autologous Chondrocyte Implantation) involving cartilage (e.g., knee cartilage).